MEMORIAL DAY IS OBSERVED

President Delivers Memorial Day Address

WASHINGTON IS HELD UP AS EXAMPLE
Hoover Declares American People Going Through Another Valley Forge
WARNING IS ISSUED
Must Muster Fortitude of First President Against Government Panaceas
VALLEY FORGE PARK, Pa., May 30.—(UP)—The American people are going through another Valley Forge and they must muster the fortitude of George Washington to right their modern war of independence against the lures of government panaceas which are especially tempting at this time, President Hoover said in a Memorial day address here.
He held up as an example to his countrymen in this depression the struggle which Washington made on this hallowed spot against despair in the darkest days of the Revolution.
We are upon the eve of the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. It is, therefore, appropriate that our observance of Memorial day should this year be at this place, so intimately associated with the moral grandeur of the Father of Our Country.
This national shrine needs no description; the events enacted here require no recounting to the American people. The very name, Valley Forge, swells within us a pride of nationality. These peaceful fields hold a glory peculiarly their own. The sufferings of Washington's army in that dreadful winter of privation have made this place famous among all men.
It was not the glory of battle for which these fields are remembered. No great battle was fought here. It was not the pomp of victory, for no martial triumph was won here. It was not the scene where peace was signed by which independence of a great nation was won. It was the tombs of courageous men who, facing the enemy, gave the supreme sacrifice for their country to which we bow in reverence. A thousand other fields mark the courage, the glory, the valor, the skill, the martial triumph of our race. Yet the instinct and the judgment of our people after the abrasion of the years has appraised this place as a foremost shrine in the War of Independence and in our nation. It is a shrine to the things of the spirit and of the soul.
It was the transcendent fortitude

STEAMER HARVARD GOES ON ROCKS OFF POINT ARGUELLO

ASH HOPES TO START FLIGHT EARLY SUNDAY
Non-stop Transpacific Airplane Journey Begins from Japan Beach
SABISHIRO BEACH, Hondo Island, Japan, May 30.—(UP)—Captain Thomas Ash, American aviator, said tonight he expected to take off from here on his proposed non-stop trans-Pacific flight about 4 a. m. Sunday (11 a. m. Saturday, P. S. T.).
The flyer announced earlier that his destination was Seattle instead of Tacoma, Wash. He explained that his change in destination might allow him to collect an additional $25,000 prize offered by business men of Seattle for the first non-stop flight to Seattle from a point within 50 miles of Tokio.
Sabishiro Beach is more than 50 miles from Tokio but Captain Ash expressed the opinion that the Seattle prize offers would waive this clause since it was not possible for him to take off from a point closer in because there was no suitable field.
Ash registered with the Imperial Aviation association to qualify for the Seattle award.
A successful flight would permit him to claim also $25,000 offered by a Japanese newspaper.
ITALY CONSIDERS PROTESTS OF POPE
ROME, May 30.—(UP)—The government was understood today to be considering a formal protest from the Holy See against recent Fascist manifestations of hostility against the pope and leading Catholic organizations.
The protest was said to assert that the manifestations constituted a serious violation of the lateran concordat with Italy under which sovereignty of the pope was respected after 60 years.
Pope Pius XI, himself the object of insults by Fascist youths who burned his picture in the streets of Rome, was said to have prepared the protest, asserting the attacks could only be construed as a breach of the Lateran accord.
Texas Sorry She Can't Take Ride On White Horse
LE HAVRE, France, May 30.—(UP)—Texas Guinan, New York night club hostess barred from France, sat in a shack-like hotel on shore today, "sick of the whole mess."
She was more concerned about the fact that her party of "twenty of the nicest little girls in the world," and her white horse could not see Paris than about her own troubles. Her one ambition, she said, now that the French definitely declared they would not permit her to stay in France and open a night club, is to "ride my horse down the Champs Elysee."
"The French are very unkind to my kids," Miss Guinan said. "We didn't want to take money from the French. They couldn't pay enough to keep us alive."

Collects 16 Tags and Gets $75 Fine
LOS ANGELES, May 30.—(UP)—Although 10 police officers identified Mrs. Dora Spell as a woman to whom they had given 16 tags for traffic violations, she insisted in municipal court today that the officers were mistaken. Judge Kaufman found her guilty, however, and assessed a $75 fine.

GEN. PERSHING AGAIN BACK ON BATTLE FIELDS
Leads 120 Gold Star Mothers in Decorating Graves in France
PARIS, May 30.—(UP)—Flowers were placed on the graves of 30,000 American soldiers in France during Memorial day ceremonies throughout the World war areas today.
Gen. John J. Pershing, who commanded the American expeditionary forces overseas during the war, with U. S. Ambassador Walter E. Edge, led thousands of veterans and 120 Gold Star mothers on a pilgrimage of the battlefield cemeteries.
They left Paris early in brilliant sunshine for the tour of the cemeteries, where thousands of white crosses mark the graves of the American men.
General Pershing for the first time since 1919, led the ceremonies at Romagne cemetery, where 14,000 Americans who lost their lives in the Argonne battle, are buried.
Ambassador Edge, speaking at Suresnes, outside Paris, urged active participation in the effort to end war.
"Think of the sacrifices symbolized by 30,000 American crosses lined up in the cemeteries of France," Edge said. "In throwing our influence on the side of peace, we must pay more than police lipservice to the idea of collaboration between nations to that aggression and destruction never again will overtake the comity of co-operation."
Among the Gold Star mothers, Mrs. Mary Raven, of Bay Shore, Long Island, knelt at the graves of her two sons, Lieut. Richard Raven and Corporal Robert Raven of the 107th infantry. They are buried in the cemetery at Somme.
Mrs. Janet Putnam of Brooklyn, first Gold Star mother of a member of the Lafayette escadrille, attended the ceremonies at Villeneuve.
U. S. Army Planes Massed at Capital For Demonstration
WASHINGTON, May 30.—(UP)—The army massed its air strength around the nation's capital today to demonstrate how a vast armada might be assembled to repel an invader.
More than 600 planes, based at four air fields in the Washington-Chesapeake bay area, were being turned up for the climactic spectacle of the 1931 maneuvers—a gigantic parade down the Potomac and a combat demonstration by picked pilots. Thereafter, the planes will prepare to return to their home stations—scattered from coast to coast.

Following the crash of the liner on the rocks the hundreds of passengers, en route on a two days vacation took to the lifeboats. Two or three other boats have gone to the rescue of the Harvard's passengers and they were being transferred from lifeboats. No one was reported drowned or injured.

WILL ROGERS says:
BEVERLY HILLS, May 30.—[To the Editor of The Register:] A couple of years ago no business seemed to be up to date unless it had its "holding company." The title "holding" seemed like you had something so the suckers went for it, but now the stockholders find out that all they were holding was the bag, so that's what's the matter with your Wall street. You can't go out now when your business ain't doing so good and merge with something else that's doing worse and form a "holding company" and issue more stock. What you got nowadays go got to "hold" yourself. The buyers are looking in the bag now before they hold it.
Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

TRIBUTE IS PAID DEAD IN THIS CITY

Industrial and Commercial Activities Halted and Graves Are Decorated
PARADE AT LAGUNA
Grand Army of Republic in Ritual Services at Cemetery—Salute Dead
INDUSTRIAL and commercial activities throughout the county halted today as thousands of citizens joined with veterans' organizations and patriotic bodies in paying tribute to the memory of the nation's heroes of all wars, and particularly to the "Boys in Blue and Gray," who fought for the causes they believed right.
Services were held in Santa Ana at Fairhaven cemetery this morning and at Birch park in the afternoon. Observance of the day in the northern part of the county centered at Fullerton, where Congressman Phil Swing was the speaker on the morning program. There was a joint observance by Huntington Beach and Garden Grove organizations with a parade at 10 a. m. A parade also marked the celebration of the day at Laguna Beach, ending at the waterfront where a salute to the dead was fired.
Graves of veterans at the various cemeteries throughout the county were banked with flowers as a loving tribute from those who remember and honor them for the history they played in the nation's history. In addition to flowers, there were salutes to the dead by firing squads and the soft strains of taps were heard floating through the air at the conclusion of each ceremony.
The first program of the day in Santa Ana was sponsored by the American Legion post and took place at the memorial shaft near the Fairhaven Mausoleum, in which the Legion drum corps, color guard and a firing squad from Co. L, California National Guard, participated. Judge H. G. Ames, presiding judge of the Orange county superior court made the address for the Legionnaires, speaking on the desirability of peace and declaring that it was the purpose of the Legion and all good citizens to bring about lasting peace.

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—(UP)—After three witnesses had failed to identify David H. Clark's preliminary hearing was in adjournment today. The new witness, it was announced, will be Mrs. Ethel Hamilton, who was said to have known Clark when he was a deputy district attorney.
The three witnesses who admitted Clark "closely resembled" the man in Crawford's office, but who were unable positively to identify him were Lucille Fisher,

AMERICAN FLYER BEGINS LONG TRIP

HESTON AIRDROME, Enr., May 30.—(UP)—Charles H. Day, American flyer and inventor, accompanied by his wife, left at 9:10 a. m. today on a flight around the world.
Mr. and Mrs. Day, who are from Ridgewood, N. J., started for the continent. They planned to make a leisurely tour of Europe and Asia in their small single-motor airplane which Day designed and built.
Day said the flight was intended to prove that touring about by air is not only quicker but more convenient than other methods of travel, and just as safe. The plane is a special model biplane with a 100 per cent wing stagger and a tail-rudder feature which permit the pilot almost to come to a halt in the air and to land at slow speed.

DEATH NEAR FOR BOASTFUL HOODLUM

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 30.—(UP)—Guarded by two husky police-men, Francis Crowley, 19-year-old 103-pound bandit who likes to be called "Two-Gun," sat in the detention room of the county jail today, awaiting the formality of being sentenced to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison.
Judge Lewis J. Smith will pronounce the sentence Monday, although Crowley's attorneys have indicated they will file an appeal.
The diminutive, egotistical hoodlum was convicted yesterday on a charge of murdering Patrolman Frederick Hirsch, father of four children, who was shot to death in Black Shirt lane, North Merick, L. I., on the night of May 5, when he approached Crowley, who was sitting in a parked automobile.

Mrs. Miller raced half way across the continent to "stick with Bernice until the better end." She disclosed that the children were in her care until a month ago but that Mrs. Foley insisted they return to San Francisco.
"I sent them back only because Bernice wanted them so badly," Mrs. Miller said.

removing passengers and crew from the vessel itself.

The station master said he was informed that no passengers had been landed on shore.

The first eye witness report of the stricken liner Harvard, aground off Point Arguello, was brought here today by a railroad trainman who said he saw the cruiser Louisville approaching the ship from the south.

The trainman said that another ship, believed to be the liner H. F. Alexander, was standing by the Harvard and was letting down lifeboats.

The passengers of the Harvard were in 20 lifeboats which were kept near the parent ship while waiting for the arrival of the Louisville. No attempt was being made to land the lifeboats on the rocky shore, the trainman said.

The Harvard was about 1000 feet offshore and was listing slightly, indicating she was filling with water.

Southern Pacific railroad officials here said that two special trains were being dispatched from Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo to care for the passengers if any are landed at Arguello. Surf is between San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara and is the nearest point on the railroad line to Point Arguello.

CLARK HEARING TO BE RESUMED NEXT MONDAY

Crawford's stenographer, Mildred Rohrback, and Ray Radke, Crawford's secretary.

George Crawford, brother and bodyguard of the politician, made the only positive identification of Clark. Crawford, however, was recalled to the witness stand and his testimony impeached.

William E. French, described as a new material witness, will be called when the hearing is resumed, Ford said.

French told detectives he heard the sound of shots coming from Crawford's office and saw three men run from the building. His story tended to substantiate that of Jean Riedel, film actress.

All other witnesses declared that two men, claimed by police to have seen the wounded Spencer and Clark, ran out.

It was the transcendent fortitude in adversity and in suffering through the darkest hour of our history held faithful to an ideal. Here men endured that a nation might live.

George Washington and his men at any moment could have accepted the counsels of an easy path to an easy end of their privations. They could have abandoned their claims to freedom. They could have deserted their hopes and forsaken their path. Instead, they chose the harder way of steadfast fortitude and for many of them, death.

Here Washington and his little band of hungry and almost naked patriots kept alive the spark of liberty in the lowest hours of the Revolution. They met the crisis with steadfast fortitude; they conserved their strength; they banded their resources; they seized the opportunity, which, with the turn and the tide of war, led on to victory. It was a triumph of character and idealism and high intelligence over the counsels of despair, of prudence, and material comfort. This was one of those moral victories that are the glory of the race. Without such victories the life of man would descend to a sheer materialism, for where there is no vision the people perish. Lacking these high inspirations, mankind could claim no distinction higher than the beasts of the field, that sing no songs, dream no dreams, inspire no hope, and grasp no faith.

It is this high spirit that we commemorate when we pay our yearly tribute of reverence to those who in all wars have stood steadfast and whose lives have been sacrificed for our country. Our citizens in every war have flocked to arms at the call of country. They have responded willingly, because in every emergency they have had up before them an ideal of liberty and the freedom of their country. Some wars in history have been instigated by old and cynical men for cruel or selfish reasons. Some wars have been fought for power and possessions. The ends of some wars could have been more nobly won and more wisely won by patience and negotiation. But war for liberty has endowed the race not alone with the most precious possessions of freedom, but has inspired every succeeding generation with that idealism which is the outpouring of man's spiritual nature.

An ideal is an unselfish aspiration. Its purpose is the general welfare not only of this but of future generations. It is a thing of the spirit. It is a generous and humane desire that all men may share equally in a common good. Our ideals are the cement which binds human society. They provide the mainspring of progress. Idealism was forged into the souls of the American people by the fires of the Revolution. It is this quality of spirit which has made possible the success of our great democratic experiment. It has tempered our acquisitiveness, has strengthened our sense of civic responsibility, and has made service to fellow man a part of our national character.

This peculiar significance of Valley Forge in our American annals should strike us all with special force in this particular moment of our national life. The American people are going through another Valley Forge at this time. To each and every one of us it is an hour of unusual stress and trial. You have each one your special cause of anxiety. So, too, have I. The whole nation is beset with difficulties incident to a world-wide depression. These temporary reverses in the march of progress have been in part the penalty of excesses of greed, of failure of crops, and the malign influences of the Great War and a storm of other world forces beyond our control. Their far-reaching effects have fallen heavily upon many who were in no wise concerned with their causes. Many have lost the savings of a lifetime, many are unemployed, all know the misgivings of doubt and grave concern for the future.

No one who reviews the past and realizes the vast strength of our people can doubt that this, like a score of similar experiences in our history, is a passing trial. From it will come a greater knowledge of the weaknesses of our system, and from this knowledge must come the courage and wisdom to improve and strengthen us for the future. Numerous are the temptations under the distress of the day to turn aside from our true national purposes and from wise national policies and fundamental ideals of the men who built our republic. Never was the lure of the easy path to every panacea and of easy ways to imagined security more tempting.

For the energies of private initiative, of independence, and a high degree of individual freedom of our American system we are offered an alluring substitute in the specious claim that everybody collectively owes each of us individually a living, and the equally specious claim that hired representatives of a hundred million people can do better than the people themselves in thinking and planning their daily life.

The Revolution, of which Valley Forge was the darkest moment, was fought not alone for national independence but to retain our freedom to continue unhampered the most promising social experiment in all human history. Our American ideals had already been in process of development for a century when the War for Independence began. Our government was an experiment in securing to a people the maximum of individual freedom. Amazing success has proved it is no longer an experiment. Under it has grown a social and economic system new in the world and distinctly our own. Human initiative has been inspired, human energies released, local co-operation has solidly knit together communities into self-governing democracies, and the human spirit has blossomed in an atmosphere of a new independence and self-respect. It brought America to a greatness unparalleled in the history of the world.

We must ever continue that fight. Amid the scene of vastly growing complexity of our economic life, we must preserve the independence of the individual from the leading restraints of government, yet by the strong arm of government equally protect his individual freedom, assure his fair chance, his equality of opportunity from the encroachments of special privileges and greed or domination by any group or class.

We are still fighting this war of independence. We must not be misled by the claim that the source of all wisdom is in the government. We know that the source of wisdom is in the people; that the people can win anew the victory. But that wisdom is not innate. Rather it is born out of experience, and most of all out of precisely such experience as is brought to us by the darkest moments—the Valley Forges—of our individual and national careers. It is in the meeting of such moments that are born new insights, new sympathies, new powers, new skills. That is precisely why the wisdom of the few instead of the many falls to build an enduring government or an enduring people. Such battles as we are in the midst of today can be won by any single stroke by any one strategy sprung from the mind of any single genius. The necessary multitude of individuals and group adjustments to new conditions is altogether too vast and too complex for that. Rather must we pin our faith upon the inventiveness, the resourcefulness, the initiative of every one of us. That cannot fail us if only we keep the faith in ourselves and our future, and in the constant growth of our intelligence and ability to co-operate with one another.

Sirens still sing the song of the easy way for the moment of difficulty, but the common sense of the common man, the inherited tradition of an independent and self-reliant race, the historical memory of Americans who glory in Valley Forge even as they glory in Yorktown—all these tell us the truth for which our ancestors fought and suffered, the truth which echoes upward from this soil of blood and tears, that the way to the nation's greatness is the path of self-reliance, independence, and steadfastness in times of trial and stress.

Valley Forge met such a challenge to steadfastness in times and terms of war. Our test is to meet this challenge in times and terms of peace. It is the same challenge. It is the same test of steadfastness of will, of clarity of thought, of resolution of character, of fixity of purpose, of loyalty to ideals and of unshaken conviction that they will prevail. We are enduring sufferings and we are assailed by temptations. We, too, are writing a new chapter in American history. If we weaker, as Washington did, we shall be writing the introduction to the decline of American character and the fall of American institutions. If we are firm and far-sighted, as were Washington and his men, we shall be writing the introduction to a yet more glorious epoch in our nation's progress. We have seen many precious fruits of the sturdy pioneering virtues that have made our country first free and then strong and now proudly in the forefront of the world. If, by the grace of God, we stand steadfast in our great traditions through this time of stress, we shall insure that we and our sons and daughters shall see these fruits increased many fold.

Valley Forge has come indeed to be a symbol in American life. It is more than the name for a place, today the scene of a military episode, more than just a critical event in history. Freedom was won here by fortitude, not by the flash of the sword. Valley Forge is our American synonym for the trial of human character through privation and suffering, and it is the symbol of the triumph of the American soul. If those few thousand men endured that long winter of privation and suffering, humiliated by the despair of their countrymen and deprived of support save their own indomitable will, yet held their countrymen to the faith, and of that holding held fast the freedom of America, what right have we to be of little faith? God grant that we may prove worthy of George Washington and his men of Valley Forge.

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—(UP)—Tony Laroso, 34, alias Andrew Lessandro, asserted bootlegger with a long police record, was "put on the spot" here late last night, police reported. Laroso was shot by an unknown assassin, who supposedly fired from an automobile in front of the home of Mrs. Xominico Derosi.

When questioned by police, Mrs. Derosi denied knowing the man. She said her husband was at work but did not know where he was employed, police reported.

After a preliminary investigation, detectives said there was little doubt but that Laroso had been slain by rival bootleggers.

TRIBUTE IS PAID DEAD IN THIS CITY

by a firing squad and address by J. F. Burke, editor.

In his remarks, among other things, he said:

"Memorial Day in its beginning was known as Decoration Day. It had this appellation because the chief service of the day was the decoration of the graves of the fallen comrades by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic as they took charge of the program of those days.

"It came in the developing of time to be called Memorial Day, and while the decoration of the graves with flowers and flags is still an important and beautiful part of the service, yet the story of the causes which brought forth the heroic sacrifice have been as lessons to the vast numbers who have gathered on these occasions, to catch the spirit of patriotism and to strengthen with great fortitude the purposes for the future.

"There is considerable discussion of when wars are and are not justified. If there ever was a war that was completely justified, it does seem that the great war of the Rebellion was such a conflict. It certainly, in the light of that day, showed the only way out. While we are prone to declare that the war was not for the freedom of the slaves, but rather for the preservation of the Union, it should not be forgotten that those who would destroy the Union at that time were animated in their purpose by the desire to protect slavery as an institution.

"Without slavery, there would have been no desire to sever the Union. Almost every war, in fact, differences that separate friends, divide neighbors and array nations against each other, are based on economic causes. The grasping greed of one or both of the contestants and the fight for the spoils, which in some cases neither of them should possess, is the cause of the conflict. But in this struggle, the one section of the country did not desire slavery; it did not desire to profit from the loss of the other section. It may have been possible that the failure to find slavery profitable was to a very large measure responsible for the determination to rid the country of it.

"But the other section felt that the property in slaves was not treated with that degree of care which neighbors should treat it when it fled to northern countries. And so in the spirit of retaliation they desired to separate, and it was for the purpose of holding the two sections together, and having one flag over us, and having one government, one capitol, one great nation, which brought about the contest.

"The effort to leave the Union and the resistance to that effort caused the immediate battle. 66 years have passed away since the closing of that conflict. Two generations of men have passed on. A few of the people who fought in that great war still remain with us. The youngest of them must be well over 80 years of age, and the oldest of them at the century mark. It is a sad and yet joyous service which we conduct today at the graves of the nation's heroic dead.

"This has been a day when the recalling of these events has caused the sentiment of patriotism to spring afresh in the breasts of men. It is the day when we make heroic resolve to be worthy of the institutions which these men fought to preserve and to be as worthy of the contest in which we enter, which to a great extent is a contest for peace, as these men were in the contest of war."

The main program of the day was held in Birch park, under the auspices of the G. A. R. and its auxiliaries, commencing at 1:45 p. m., where the following program was given: Assembly, Cosad Drum Corps; "Star Spangled Banner," audience, led by a quartet from Clanton's band; invocation, the Rev. Harry E. Owings; selection, quartet from the band; selection, Mothers' chorus of the P. T. A., led by Mrs. E. A. Chapman, accompanied by Carrie Seaton; "Memorial," the Rev. Mr. Owings; reading names of departed comrades, W. J. Lieser; taps; duet, Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Hubbard; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, H. E. Smith; selection, Cosad Drum Corps; selection, Mothers' chorus; address, "Dedicated to the Unfinished Work," the Rev. W. H. McPeak; "America," audience; benediction, the Rev. Mr. McPeak; break camp, Cosad Drum Corps.

In his address the Rev. Mr. McPeak reviewed events of the Civil War, especially the battle of Gettysburg, the address of President Lincoln at that great cemetery four and a half months later, Sherman's march to the sea, the campaign in the wilderness, the surrender of Lee to Grant, and the assassination of Lincoln. Then he went on to say:

"It is now in the 68th year since President Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg address. How do matters stand today? The crowns of seven kings have toppled to the ground during the last twenty-one years: Portugal in 1910, China in 1912, Russia in 1917, Austria in 1918, Germany in 1918, Turkey in 1922, Spain in 1931. Old World Monarchies have been shaken! How about democracies? Are they imperiled? How about our own? We are in the 154th year of our independence. What is the situation? Is it one of peril or promise? Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University pointed out recently that political race between three types of government—proletarian dictatorship in Soviet Russia—bourgeois democracy in England and America. There are those who agree with this analysis and go further to say that of the three types, democracy is least likely to survive.

"We may not go so far as to say that democracy is doomed; but surely every thoughtful person sees that it is in grave danger. This nation was 'Conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.' A land of patriots where the people would direct their affairs, guided by a mighty sentiment of freedom and justice. Has the spirit that founded this nation departed? Have we caught the torch which others have thrown to us, or did we let it fall? Is it still burning, or did we let it go out?"

"Why the crime wave and lawlessness? Various kinds of business pay tribute to the racketeer, the jacker, and hold-up man. The testimony, manipulations and strength of the underworld are startling. It is amazing that a man like Al Capone is still at large and has made his boast, 'An enemy may get me but not the law!' We are being challenged in America today by an appalling homicide record, by social injustice, by economic inequality by social misunderstandings, by forces most sinister and deadly.

"But on this Memorial day, 1931 I hear another challenge—mighty stirring, touching the patriotism of the souls of all who have protection underneath the Stars and Stripes of the Flag. It is that challenge with which Abraham Lincoln stirred the souls of his countrymen 68 years ago. It is the challenge of the unfinished work which those have left who lie in consecrated graves—North and South and in the poppy-fields of France.

"Patriotism is not only a memory—it is a dedication. It is more than a parade, it is a participation. A participation of that patriotic devotion of those who counted their lives not dear unto themselves. Shall we answer that challenge by dedicating ourselves to that unfinished work—'That this nation, under God shall have a new birth of freedom and that Government of the People, by the People, for the People, shall not perish from the earth'?"

MILK the builder of Strong White Teeth

All dentists know why some children have sound white teeth. They know that the strength and hardness of their teeth depend on the amount of calcium in their system. If they have a good supply their teeth will be hard, strong and white. That is why food experts say that every child should have plenty of pure milk each day, for milk is the most valuable source of calcium known.

Are your children getting the right amount of this perfect food? Make sure they develop sound, healthy teeth, alert minds and robust bodies by following childhood's Golden Rule of health—a quart of milk every day for every child.

Every bottle of Raitt's milk is full of nourishment and strength. It comes from selected farms, and its purity, freshness and wholesomeness are fully safeguarded.

BIG AUDIENCE ANTICIPATED AT TOAD RACE

As the time draws near for the American Legion toad derby, that will be run at the Legion hall next Friday night, everything is rounding into shape for the great event, states Commander Hunter Leach, who with his assistants is busy listing last minute preparations.

Preparations have been made to handle the large and enthusiastic audience that promises to be on hand to witness the races and enjoy the dancing. The advance sale of tickets has been very gratifying to members of the post. Tickets also will be on sale at the Legion hall the day of the races.

A very unique sight, which attracted many to the windows of the horn toad training quarters yesterday, was that of a two quart glass receptacle filled with nice, live, black ants, who being anxious to get out, were readily devoured by the racing toads as they climbed down the outside of the glass jar.

Most everyone wonders at the size and build of these racing toads, so much larger are they than the California horn toad, and all admit they ought to be able to "hit the dust" in remarkable time.

PROBATION GIVEN TO TWO PRISONERS

Probation was granted to two prisoners yesterday by Judge James L. Allen, after hearings in connection with their requests for clemency, one carrying a jail sentence as a condition of probation.

Todiro Fujino, who previously had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of issuing forged checks, was granted probation for a period of three years and released to the custody of Sui Fujino, who acted as interpreter during proceedings. Conditions of probation were that he make good the bad checks he had issued, at the rate of $20 a month and that he should not gamble, drink said or break any laws.

Lyell Blackwell, who was charged with violation of probation, had his probation continued by the court on condition that he serve 60 days in the county jail.

Blackwell previously had been granted probation on a bad check charge and since then had been before the superior court in San Bernardino county on a charge of possession of liquor.

FRANCES WILLARD SCHOOL IS WINNER OF REGISTER TROPHY IN W. C. T. U. ESSAY CONTEST

The Register Citizenship Trophy, awarded each year in connection with essay contests conducted by the W. C. T. U. will go to the Frances Willard Junior High school this year, it was announced today by Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, director of the scientific temperance instruction department of the W. C. T. U. in Santa Ana.

Willard students won two of the three places in the awards, thus taking the cup from Julia Lathrop Junior High school which won it last year in the first of the competitive events. The subject on which essays were written this year was "The Conflict About Alcoholic Liquors and Why" and some 1300 entries were received, according to Mrs. Nicholson, who was assisted in the work by Mrs. Elizabeth Clark.

Awards were made at the Lathrop school yesterday during the Memorial day assembly and prizes of $3 each, furnished by The Register, were presented at that time by Mrs. Nicholson to the winners from the three grades represented. Winners were as follows: Seventh grade, Philip Dowd; eighth grade, Bob Speer; ninth grade, William Hudspeth. Dowd won city championship with his essay for the seventh grade, the championship in the other two grades going to Willard students, which carried the silver cup to that school this year.

Winners at Willard were all girls and are as follows: Seventh grade, Audrey Grana; eighth grade, Margaret Munro; ninth grade, Roberta Tuthill. Awards of cash prizes and the championship trophy will be made at commencement exercises of the Willard school next month.

JUNK DEALER, WIFE ANGRY AS Woman Says Award Too Small; Hubby Disagrees SHE WINS $30 SUPPORT FUND

Efforts of a Yiddish interpreter, an attorney, members of the family and the court bailiff were required to calm a storm that burst out in the court of Judge H. G. Ames Thursday afternoon at the conclusion of the contested, separate maintenance action brought by Bertha Yarowsky against Jake Yarowsky, Fullerton junk dealer, after Judge Ames had announced his decision in the matter.

Mrs. Yarowsky broke into vehement protests and tears of rage when the court made its decision ordering her husband to pay $30 per month for support, according to court attaches, and her husband also broke into tears at being ordered to pay that amount. Efforts of the interpreter, attorney and bailiff Howard Wassum, were required to calm the woman and keep her from bursting into the chambers of Judge Ames, where according to his regular custom he had retired after announcing his ruling.

The plaintiff was angry because the award had not been larger, and the defendant was moved to tears, evidently because it was so large.

During the course of the hearing the trial of family troubles sketchy clear across the continent, starting in Connecticut, pausing at Chicago, then continuing to California.

Yarowsky informed the court that his business had not broken even for the last year, that he was unable to find a buyer for either the business or quantities of junk and materials he had on hand from wrecking autos and that until the last year he had been paying $5 a week for support of his wife under a Connecticut court order made some 16 years ago.

DRINK DEALER SENTENCED FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Edward Neil, wholesale soft drink dealer of Long Beach, whose recommendations for judicial clemency in connection with his probation plea which was heard before Judge James L. Allen yesterday, included several prominent Long Beach business men, soon will start serving a 30-day jail sentence handed out by Judge Allen as part of the condition of granting probation.

Neil was charged with operation of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and while on the witness stand yesterday during the hearing on probation told the court that he drove an old car that had a habit of wobbling from one side of the road to the other. He declared he had purchased and drunk some grape juice before he was taken into custody, but did not know it had alcoholic content.

The defendant told the court that his business was in wholesale farm products, and it has been reported that his farm products include grape concentrate and other similar beverages.

Another condition of probation imposed by Judge Allen was payment of a fine of $150. The probationary period was set for three years. A five-day stay was granted by the court to permit Neil to look after his business before starting the jail sentence, and a $1000 bond was set to insure his appearance to serve the sentence.

Judge Allen during the hearing declared that there never had been a man before him on that charge where he felt the thing to do was to turn him loose. "This driving of autos while intoxicated is the most dangerous situation we have today," said the judge.

JAYCEE VOTERS NAME GRIFFITH AS PRESIDENT

George Griffith, social commissioner at the Santa Ana junior college, will be installed as president of the Associated Students on King's day next Tuesday to succeed John "Sky" Dunlap. It was definitely decided yesterday when students at the college went to the polls to elect their leaders for next year.

Griffith was unopposed in his race for the high position. He has been social commissioner since February.

Robert Brown, president of the freshman class and active in the Y. M. C. A., Los Gauchos service club and Breakfast club, received a large majority over Wilton Hillard for the office of vice president. The closest contest was the race between Eugenia Gire and Louise Proctor for secretary, with Miss Gire winning by a few votes. Dante Siracusa was chosen treasurer by a wide margin over Elmer Kogler.

The four elective officers and the six new commissioners on the executive board will be installed Tuesday in the King's day assembly. Dunlap, the outgoing president, will have complete charge of the school for the day and will follow the semi-annual custom of ordering teachers and students to obey his every order.

FILE SECOND SUIT OVER AUTO CRASH

The second suit filed in the last few days as the result of an automobile crash on Newport boulevard near the Santa Ana country club was filed in superior court yesterday by J. H. Crawford and Thomas Butler against E. B. Hostetter and his wife Alice and son Eldon L. Hostetter, asking judgment of $15,750.

The other damage action was filed by Dr. Gunning Butler, driver of the other car involved in the crash, and named the Hostetters as defendants. The suit filed yesterday was launched by the husband and father of Mary J. Crawford, a passenger in the Hostetter car, which was being driven by Eldon Hostetter at the time of the accident, which occurred last February.

Mrs. Crawford was thrown from the Hostetter car to the pavement, her skull was fractured and a piece of metal pierced her brain, according to the complaint filed yesterday. The plaintiffs charge that the car in which their wife and daughter was a guest was being operated carelessly, negligently and recklessly at the time of the accident and that it was driven onto the Butler car.

Damages are itemized as $15,000 general damages and $750 for Crawford as remuneration for funeral expenses.

GROUP SEEKS ADDED FACTS ABOUT WATER

Ways and means of securing authentic information for dissemination to the various organizations which they represent and to the general public in connection with the Orange county water situation and the flood control report which was submitted to the board of supervisors last month, was discussed by the executive committee of the affiliated water committees in a luncheon meeting at Ketter's cafe yesterday.

Members of the committee pointed out that if authentic information were made available it would check any controversial differences which might be based on misinformation.

E. E. Campbell, of Orange, chairman of the group, declared it felt it was the function and duty of the affiliated committee to secure an impartial discussion of the problems involved and make no attempt to "sell" any feature of the report to the county. "We should get unbiased information for the people and let them act as they please," he said.

The affiliated committee is made up of water committees from the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce, Orange County Coast association, Orange County Fruit exchange, Northern Orange County Fruit exchange, Farm bureau, Irvine company and various water companies in the county.

Those present at the meeting yesterday included James Irvine Jr.; Roy Browning, engineer for the Irvine company; E. J. Lewis, of the Yorba Linda Water company; Louis Bushard, of the Fountain Valley Land company; Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg; Roland Flaherty, executive secretary of the Farm bureau and secretary of the committee; J. W. Crill, president of the Farm bureau; Ross Shafer, of the Associated Chambers of Commerce; E. E. Campbell, chairman of the committee, and Carl Hankey, of the Orange County Coast association.

Athletic council at Texas A. & M. college awarded 32 letters to students participating in the spring varsity sports. Eleven went to the baseball squad, 17 to the track squad, three in tennis and two in golf.

REPORT SHOWS ALCOHOL, EVEN IN SMALL AMOUNTS, SLOWS UP BRAIN AND BODY EFFICIENCY

By S. S. McCLURE

The Medical Research Council made a most thorough study of the effects of small quantities of alcohol in relation to the performance of muscular acts and the simpler mental processes. Herewith are some of their findings:

"Complication in arriving at the true effect of alcohol on performance further arises from the fact that while alcohol gives the drinker the impression that he has performed the allotted task with unusual facility and success, impartial and objective examinations of the performance shows—almost invariably in cases where the high accuracy and regularity have been maintained—that both accuracy and regularity have fallen below the normal standard. Self-satisfaction has been increased, but neither skill nor power.

"But a point of greater practical importance is that, without signs of intoxication in the full ordinary or in the legal sense of the term, the bearing and individual attitude of mind suffer temporary change as an effect of the drug.

"Accuracy, avoidance of accidents, tactful handling of colleagues and subordinates, observance of discipline, punctuality, reticence in matters of confidence, are all obviously jeopardized; and an additional source of friction is brought to complicate the relations between the employer and the employee.

"Experiments designed for the special purpose of testing the effects of alcohol on the accurate coordination of nervous and muscular activity which is necessary for skilled movements have been carried out by Vernon and by McDougall and Smith. The results showed that more mistakes were invariably made after a sufficient dose of alcohol had been taken. The dose might be as small as 10 c.c. if taken some hours after a meal, though 30 c.c. taken with a meal had only a very slight action. The result of diluting the dose was also to decrease its effect.

"Eye-Closing Reflex" "The dose of 30 cubic centimeters of alcohol retarded the reflex speed by 5.9 per cent, taking the average from four of the men; it decreased the eye-blink movement's extent by 10.7 per cent, taking the average measure from five of the men.

"Miles found that 40 minutes after a dose of 30 c.c. of alcohol the speed of the movement was decreased by more than 12 per cent on an average.

"The evidence summarized in the preceding section shows that the execution of skilled movements ends to be impaired by alcohol. 'Gullery remarked that at no stage of the action of any dose of alcohol were the eyeball movements found to be strengthened or rendered quicker.

"Similarly, Dodge and Benedict found that a dose of 45 cubic centimeters of alcohol measurably impaired the speed of starting the movement of turning the eyes toward a fresh object; in short, the speed of directing the gaze.

"A dose of 45 cubic centimeters of alcohol was found, an hour and a half after it had been taken, to increase the delay (average of all six men) by 15 per cent.

"Similar experiments were carried out by Miles, who gave his subject a dose of 30 c.c. of alcohol. He found that the speed of the movement was decreased by 13 per cent, 1½ hours after the dose was taken, and remained less than normal for a further 1½ hours.

"Admiral Lord Jellicoe said: 'As regards straight shooting, it is every one's experience that abstinence is necessary for efficiency. By careful and prolonged tests the shooting efficiency of the men was proved to be thirty per cent worse after the rum ration than before it.'

Alcohol and Efficiency The final summary of all the experiments made by Miles of the Carnegie Institute, Washington, D. C., contains these conclusions:

"The whole qualitative picture is one of decreased human efficiency as a quickly-following result from the ingestion of this pharmacodynamic substance.  There is no longer room for doubt in deference to the toxic action of alcoholic beverages as weak as 2.75 per cent by weight.

Alcohol and Railroad Engineering There are many occupations where absolute mastery of one's powers is essential to safety.

Warren S. Stone, lately deceased, for many years head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said:

MRS. STROTHER IS CALLED BY DEATH

California Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy is without a president, and will be until October, according to Miss Gertrude Montgomery, president of Emma A. Sansom chapter of this city and an officer in the state organization. This unusual state of affairs is due, states Miss Montgomery, to the recent regrettable death of Mrs. Sidney L. Strother, of Fresno. She is survived by her husband, Judge Strother, of Fresno.

Mrs. Strother was well-known in this city where she visited various times in carrying out her work as division president of the U. D. C. In the spring she was honored at a tea given by Mrs. Victor Montgomery and the Misses Louise and Gertrude Montgomery in their home on North Main street.

Mrs. Strother's death followed a heart attack, brought on after a major operation.

LUCY ROBERTS WINS DECREE OF DIVORCE

An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted yesterday afternoon by Judge H. G. Ames to Lucy A. Roberts, of Fullerton from William W. Roberts, after a hearing on charges of extreme cruelty that had been brought by the wife.

Mrs. Roberts told the court that her husband in recent years had been habitually intemperate, that he had cursed her, and threatened her life. The court ordered the defendant, who did not appear to contest the action, to pay $30 a month for support of their two children and awarded custody of the children to the mother, who is an orange packer.

Parties to the action were married in 1919 and separated last February.

The practical experiences of a locomotive engineer bears out the conclusions of the work of Miles, Vernon, McDougall, Smith, Dodge and Benedict.

Railroad Conductors C. S. Whitney, general secretary and treasurer of the Order of Railroad Conductors of America wrote, April 1, 1922: "The officers and members of the Order of Railroad Conductors have ever since the institution of that organization, upheld the principle of prohibition. Temperance is one of the salient points of our organization, and we believe that the national dry policy has been of great benefit to our members throughout the United States and Canada."

William G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said:

"The viewpoint of our brotherhood needs no strengthening on the prohibition issue. Our organization has always been on record as being emphatically opposed to the sale or handling of intoxicating liquors of any description, and that may be taken as the nearest approach to an expression of mass sentiment on the subject it is possible to get."

Safety Council

The National Safety Council of the United States, including a membership of 1700 industries and employing over 2,500,000 workers, in 1914 adopted this resolution:

"Whereas, it is recognized that the drinking of alcoholics is productive of a heavy per cent of the accidents and diseases affecting the safety and efficiency of working men,

"Be it resolved, That it is the sense of this organization that it go on record in favor of eliminating the use of intoxicants from the industries of the nation."

Not many years ago it often happened that drunken engineers caused railroad wrecks.

Today, with 80,000 locomotives operating on 264,000 miles of railroad, carrying each year a thousand and million passengers, rarely ever can an accident be ascribed to drunkenness.

There are nearly two million men employed by the railroads of the United States. Besides the employees of great manufacturing plants where accuracy of mind and muscle is so important, there are many millions of men and women who drive automobiles.

All these people need undiminished all their powers.

ATTORNEYS ASK $5000 IN FEES AND GET $200

Request of a Los Angeles firm of attorneys for $5000 attorney fees in handling the divorce action of Betty Ann Brown, 45, of Long Beach, against Augustus Brown, 82, of 801 California street, Huntington Beach, was cut to pieces yesterday by Judge H. G. Ames when the matter came before him on an order to show cause.

The fee for handling the case was set at $200 by the court and an allowance of $100 was made in addition to pay for depositions which the attorney for Mrs. Brown declared would have to be taken in Reno and Florida.

On the order to show cause, Judge Ames,

COUNTY GROUP HEARS TALK BY MRS. S. DUNKLEE

ORANGE, May 30.—"We all want peace but in order to have peace, we must be prepared for war," Mrs. Marie Dunklee, of San Francisco, state president of the American Legion auxiliary, declared in addressing a group of about 100 state officers and members of the county unit of the Legion auxiliary at a special welfare meeting held in the Legion Hall yesterday noon.

"Women especially are well aware of the horror of war. We have only to look in the veterans' hospital even now, many years after the conclusion of the war, to see its frightful results. However, in order to keep our fair nation from becoming an easy prey to ambitious foreign powers, we must be protected. We do not want to send our boys into another war as unprepared as they were during the past war."

"If any of you members of the auxiliary should hear the question come up as to whether we should have an adequate navy and army to protect the nation, I want you to do your part in helping carry out this preparedness program. I want you to use all of your influence to bear on legislative representatives to pass laws that will assure this nation that protection."

Mrs. Dunklee called attention to the fact that the Legion was planning to establish permanent headquarters in Washington, D. C., and that the auxiliary had been asked to contribute $25,000. She also gave a brief resume of the activities of the various departments under her supervision.

The meeting opened with luncheon at 1 p. m. served by the Orange auxiliary. Tables were decorated with baskets of flowers in red, white and blue. The patriotic motif was carried out all through the room.

The first guest introduced was Dr. Glenn Curtis, of Brea, who is county chairman of veterans' welfare association, who spoke on hospitalization and tuberculosis. Dr. Curtis complimented the auxiliary members on the welfare work they have been doing, declaring that the Orange county unit is the only one in the state that is self supporting that hosts a county welfare association.

Dr. Curtis declared that the welfare work of the auxiliary had made it possible for 10 families that had been county charges to get on their feet but said that more help was needed locally to take care of this program.

In speaking of the new hospital that is to be built in Southern California, Dr. Curtis declared that he would do all in his power to get it located in Orange county, and that as far as he was concerned he believed it to be best to allow state medical authorities determine the exact location.

He stated that the hospital at San Fernando was not large enough to care for the disabled veterans and that there was always a waiting list of from 10 to 50 veterans. He declared that he did not believe that a hospital for tubercular patients was needed in the state as the percentage of men with the disease was decreasing constantly.

Dr. Curtis told the assembly that legislation would be tried to be passed in the state legislature to obtain state aid in hospitalization work, but warned the group against "using the disabled veterans for a political football" any longer.

Ted Craig, assemblyman from this district, was present at the meeting and spoke briefly, telling of attempts to pass favorable legislation for the Legion in the legislature. He mentioned the fact that there was a sum of $30,000 in the state treasury that had been set aside as a scholarship fund for children of disabled veterans and that he believed that it would be available in the near future for this purpose. It has been in the treasury for some time but has not been used because of the age limits for children that had been set in appropriating the money. This has been changed to include older children, he declared.

Robert Jones, commander of the San Fernando hospital Legion, spoke briefly, declaring that he believed that the new hospital would be located near Los Angeles, and that if it was not he thought the best move would be to enlarge the San Fernando hospital.

Reports from state chairmen of various committees were heard. State, district and area officers present were Mrs. Sarah Nash, national radio chairman; Mrs. Nora McCalla, state sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Ethel Marsh, fifth area president; Mrs. Beatrice Steele, 21st district president; Mrs. Agnes Walker, fourth area president; Mrs. Rowena Fultz, 21st district vice president; Mrs. Myrtle Mason, 22nd district president; Mrs. Ethyl Flynn, state secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Marcia Farrell, 22nd district vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Bailey, state membership chairman; Mrs. Selma Britten, state child welfare chairman; Mrs. Gladys Moore, state Fidaa chairman; Mrs. Bernice Keyes, state legislative chairman; Mrs. C. J. Johnson, 21st district rehabilitation chairman; Mrs. Blanche Young, 21st district child welfare chairman; Mrs. Margaret Harding, national executive of committee women and past department president; Mrs. Anna Chapline, past department president; Mrs. Bertha Dobbins, of Long Beach; Mrs. Marjorie Faddis, San Diego county council; Mrs. Phillips, Riverside and San Bernardino county council president; Mrs. Ellison, Los Angeles county council president, and Mrs. Marjorie Lutz, 40 and 8 committee chairman.

Mrs. Chapline was in charge of arrangements for the affair, which was sponsored by the Orange American Legion auxiliary and participated in by the county council, the president of which is Mrs. Ella Stumbo, who presided over a portion of the meeting, introducing the guests.

The Brea-Olinda union high school male quartet, under the direction of Louise Chapman, gave a group of numbers, interspersed through the afternoon session. Members of the quartet were Paul Woodward, Arthur Fox, Harry Stewart and Stratton Phillips. Phillips also sang a solo.

Ruth Spears, of Santa Ana, gave two vocal numbers, accompanied at the piano by Ruth Armstrong, Thelma and May McKenzie, small daughters of Mrs. McKenzie, of the Orange auxiliary, presented a group of tap dances, accompanied at the piano by Viva Shoff.

D. B. Alexander sang several vocal solos and played a group of numbers on the banjo, accompanied on the piano by Miss Shoff.

ORANGE COUNTY BANKERS MEET IN BEACH CITY

Orange county bankers enjoyed themselves at Travaglini's cafe, in Laguna Beach last night, renewed acquaintances, transacted some business, discussed prospects for good times and banking, and made their quarterly meeting one of the most successful in the history of the organization. Alexander Brownridge, president of the organization, presided. The meeting was in part a greeting to Frank D. Hever, majority stock holder and cashier of the Citizens' bank of Laguna Beach and John C. Gibson, of the same institution.

S. S. McClure, founder of McClure's magazine and the syndicate bearing his name, was the principal speaker of the evening. His subject was "My Personal Recollections as an Editor" in which he told of meeting Rudyard Kipling, Robert Louis Stephenson and many other English writers as well as the developing of American writers. The recollections of the former editor proved very entertaining to the bankers. The personal glimpses into the lives of famous writers, their characteristics, the circumstances under which they were met, and the bringing of their work to the American reading public gave an insight into the field of literature which kept the listeners at close attention.

She reported that nine positions had been secured for residents of Orange and that but two new applications for work had come in to the office during the past month. Opening of the Valencia orange packing season was thought to be one of the reasons why so many more had found employment and had not asked for aid.

More than 20 members of the board were present at the meeting. The board is composed of a representative from service clubs, churches and civic organizations.

Register Carrier Boys Entertained At Beach Plunge

A group of 15 Register carriers from Santa Ana were guests Thursday night of the Register and J. M. Barlowe, manager of the salt water plunges at Huntington Beach, at a swimming party in the pool there which recently has been extensively renovated.

The boys reported a wonderful evening of fun in the large pool, enjoying various water games and a light lunch after the swim. The group was under the direction of R. Biles and Abe Bergersater, assistants to R. Conklin, circulation manager of The Register.

Members of the party were carriers who had made outstanding records for service and courtesy to their customers and in building up their routes.

FEW DEMANDS FOR AID FROM WELFARE BOARD

ORANGE, May 30.—Employment conditions in the vicinity of Orange are better than they have been for a long time. W. W. Perry, chairman of the Orange Community Welfare board, declared at a meeting of the board held yesterday noon in the Orange Legion hall. Not only are employment conditions better, but there has been less call for help in welfare work during the past month than there has been for many months, he declared.

Mrs. Lillian Weldeman, who is in charge of the welfare store and who takes care of all the calls for aid, reported that there were fewer calls made lately than for some time.

She reported that nine positions had been secured for residents of Orange and that but two new applications for work had come in to the office during the past month.

Opening of the Valencia orange packing season was thought to be one of the reasons why so many more had found employment and had not asked for aid.

More than 20 members of the board were present at the meeting. The board is composed of a representative from service clubs, churches and civic organizations.

The National Safety Council's report shows that more people up to the age of sixty-five are killed by automobiles than by any other two types of accidents combined."

Members of the cast included Jay Skiles, Clinton Baker, Harold Thomas, Louise McKinley, Harold Peters, William Rice, Iola Windolph and Charlotte Knutt.

The high school annual, the Orange and White, was distributed to the students during the evening. The play was in the form of a benefit to help defray the publication costs of the annual.

Music was furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Percy J. Green.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rose Richards; a daughter, Lila Rose; his mother, Mrs. Anna Richards, of Santa Ana; a sister, Mrs. De Witt Mix, of Anaheim; two aunts, Mrs. R. C. Burkett and Mrs. M. E. White, both of Orange and three uncles, W. I. Richards, of Albuquerque, N. M.; A. A. Richards, of Oklahoma City, and Guy Richards, of Los Angeles.

Mr. Lyon suggests that each automobile owner ask himself these questions: Have the brakes been tested recently? Are all headlights adjusted properly? Are you driving on thin, worn tires? Is it worth while to endanger life, yours or someone else's, when tires are so inexpensive? Replace smooth, dangerous tires, have brakes and lights adjusted—and drive carefully.

JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

The International Uniform Sunday school lesson for May 31, Jesus in Gethsemane. Luke 22: 39-54.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

The contrast between the triumphal entry into Jerusalem and the experience that so soon followed in Gethsemane we have already emphasized. As the triumphal entry stands as a record apart from the rest of the story of Jesus, so in a sense, though from a somewhat different standpoint, the record of the experience in Gethsemane stands apart.

Read in the light of the events that followed the Crucifixion and the Resurrection, we feel the deep reality of the experience and its unity in the whole story of the mission and ministry of Jesus. But standing by itself it is in contrast with the passages that suggest the unique power of Jesus in insight and wonder-working.

There are passages where we feel that Jesus possesses power to discern events and hidden facts and circumstances concealed from other men; but here Jesus is found in the reality of his humanity facing experiences the depth and meaning of which are apparently in some measure withheld from him, even as they have been withheld from other men who have gone the way of suffering. The intensity of his spiritual consecration is not affected by the darkness that surrounds him. If there is doubt in his soul, it is not doubt of God's goodness or doubt of the necessity which he has become one with us in sharing our human nature. The goal of his life is the supreme purpose and will of his life.

Knew He Must Die
The doubt is merely regarding what is to be the way in which his mission will be fulfilled. And in the intensity with which Jesus prays that the cup may pass from him, we realize the completeness with which he has become one with us in sharing our human nature. The very form of the prayer shows that deep down in his consciousness he realized there was no way but the way of the cross. It was simply with human feeling that he shrank from that way.

The lesson and example are very instructive to us. Few men are martyrs by disposition and temperament, and the man who is a martyr in that way might well inquire whether it is the right attitude toward life. To die too willingly for a cause may be, after all, only a high form of suicidal purpose. To live for a cause as long as one can live and work for it is surely more important than to die for it, except in the last analysis where a man may be called on to make the supreme sacrifice.

What appeals to us so strongly about Jesus is the normality of his life, the sound feeling, the plain common sense, the absence of anything that usually marks the fanatic, the crank or the abnormal man. What was remarkable about him was the completeness of his devotion to truth, the thoroughness with which he lived for it, and his readiness to die for it when he became convinced that to die for it meant to obey the will of God.

Brings Us Nearer to Him
It is not natural for man to seek suffering or to welcome it gladly; but it is quite another thing to meet it bravely, with courage and with a high sense of divine resignation when it comes to one. It marks a high attainment in life when a man can feel that possibly the will of God concerning him is worked out in sorrow and suffering rather than in ease and contentment, or even in ordinary accomplishment.

Gethsemane means much, or ought to mean much, in bringing us near to Jesus. Souls that go the way of sorrow and pain must surely find the sense of a comforting fellowship as they re-enact in their lives the garden scene and feel that the Master in his anguish touches their lives with the sympathy of profound understanding. "The word of the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews expresses this, 'for in that he suffered being tempted he is able to succor them that are tempted.'"

There is a deeper sorrow that can afflict more than bodily pain or the bludgeonings of circumstance. It is the sorrow of being betrayed by those whom one has chosen and trusted. It is the disruption of that human confidence which makes life sweet and worthwhile and which seems to destroy the very foundations when it occurs. To discover that a friend and associate of yesterday has proven traitorous to all the intimacies that could have existed only in the realm of confidence is to weaken life at its very source.

It was this experience that Jesus, also, was to have in Gethsemane, although he had already sensed what was working in the mind of Judas. The betrayal with a kiss, like Gethsemane itself, has become a symbol for the world of the perfidy of sin against the human spirit.

"Things That Count"

THINGS THAT COUNT

Text: "Thus saith Jehovah, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches; but let him that glorieth glory in this, that he hath understanding, and knoweth me, that I am Jehovah who exerciseth loving kindness, justice and righteousness in the earth, for in these things I delight, saith Jehovah."

—Jeremiah 9: 23, 24.

There are many things that count. But what things count most? There are many ends in life, but there must be one supreme end. We are meant of course to enjoy life, to use it, to possess it, but after all there must be one great end in which all other ends find their fulfillment. And it will make a great difference to us as to how we define that end and how we relate our life to it. Placing the great ends of life into the balances of God, what are the things that outweigh all others?

In answer to this question let us view the kingdoms of this world with the eyes of the prophet, who sees the kingdom of knowledge, the kingdom of power and the kingdom of wealth. Many have gloried in these kingdoms. These are the three kingdoms of this world which were revealed to Jesus on the mount of His temptation, and which tempt every man. Great as these kingdoms may appear, yet knowledge, power and wealth are not the things that count in the final analysis.

The kingdom of knowledge can never be an end, for it is never final. The science of today becomes the superstition of tomorrow. The will to power is a poor path for the children of men. The devotees of the shrine of power are crushed even as they worship. "He that takes the sword shall perish with the sword." Neither is wealth worthy of our worship. The monarchs of capital may attempt to rule the world, but all of men's millions can not make one single man good. God does not care for these things in themselves. He cares for those things only as means to greater ends. And the prophet suggests that if God finds these things unworthy, then they are not worthy of us. God does not glory in His knowledge, nor in His power, nor in His wealth. Jesus refused to become a victim of these great consuming world ambitions.

What then are the things that count with God? What is the great, chief end of the divine nature which must also be the chief end of our human nature? Here are the things in which God delights: loving kindness, justice and righteousness. These things abide.

Kindness is the first mark in a life that is like God. His way is the way of kindness. But kindness in God is undegirded in righteousness. God is kind but He does not lower His standard of justice, and righteousness. If we are to be like God and find the great end of life we must be righteous as well as kind. The standard which Jesus raised when He called men to their best, was a standard of kindness based on principles of righteousness. We remember Jesus with His holy indignation, His white heat toward all sorts of injustice and oppression, His impatience with wrong and wrong-doers, and we know that without those elements of strength He would not be to us what He is.

God delights in righteousness. He will do anything to have men pure and good. He will exercise patience. He will go to the cross for man to redeem him and make him good.

To be like God in kindness and in truth is what counts. Kindness without truth is empty and hypocritical. The greatest thing in the world is not a thing at all, but a life, a human life, lived as God Himself would live it. "A man after God's own heart" is heaven's highest praise. This is our task and this in time will be our triumph. James Russell Lowell says: "The kind of world one carries in one's self is the important thing; the world outside takes all its grace and colour and value from that." There is one thing that counts, and that is character. Looking unto Christ we behold Him full of grace and truth, kindness and righteousness combined. He embodies the chief end of men, and what He is, He enables us to become. That which counts in a man's life are not the things he may possess, but that which he is in character.

SANTA ANA STOPPED, 5-1

Far West Class Amazes East

TROJANS, CARDS CINC TO WIN IC4A CLASSIC

BY HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
FRANKLIN FIELD, PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—(UP)—With a fine disregard for the feelings of the other 35 colleges entered, Stanford and Southern California resumed their dual meet in the I. C. A. A. A. track and field championship here today.

The preliminary trials were no more than started yesterday when it was apparent the Trojans and the Cardinals, or rather the Indians as Stanford now prefers to be known, were the whole show and all the other teams might just as well have stayed at home and played back-gammon.

When the boys started the finals today Stanford had no less than sixteen men in the lists, while U. S. C. the defending champion and a heavy pre-meet favorite to retain its title, was close behind with thirteen.

No other outfit has a chance at the championship for Yale was third in the qualifying list with seven men, and Pennsylvania fourth with six, and you don't go about winning track meets with six or seven men, not even if those men are all blood relations of Mercury and Hercules.

Stanford's main strength is massed in the field events, while U. S. C.'s hopes rest, on the whole, in its runners. This alignment is not strictly true, however, for Stanford has the mighty Eastman in the running and half mile, and the capable Leslie Hables in the 220 and the century dash.

Eastman is a dead clinch to win the first of the two races he runs and an even money bet to take them both. This young man's nonchalant performance yesterday was downright amazing. He all but walked across the tape in the 440 yet finished in the sparkling time of 48.3 as one coach remarked after this demonstration of class "any man who can loaf the 440 in 48.3 can carry my money every time he takes to the post."

Penn, although it qualified only six men to Yale's seven, is likely to take third place and top honors among the Eastern teams.

CUBS GET HEMSLEY, PIRATES' CATCHER

PITTSBURGH, May 30.—(UP)—The Chicago Cubs apparently have added strength in trading Catcher Earl Grace and cash to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Catcher Ralston Hemsley.

In his third season in the majors Hemsley was regarded as the Pirates' first string catcher while Eddie Phillips unexpectedly developed in a top-notch receiver this season. Recently Hemsley displeased the Pittsburgh management by oversteering a leave of absence, and was suspended. Grace was with Reading last year and had caught only two games for the Cubs this season.

HARRIDGE ELECTION PLEASURES BALL MEN

CHICAGO, May 30.—The election of William Harridge as the third president in the history of the American League, successor to the late E. S. Barnard, has met with the approval of baseball men from all parts of the country. Flowers and telegrams, congratulating Harridge continue to pour into the American league offices here.

"I didn't seek the position, and I am too overwhelmed to say anything now," commented Harridge, who was elected to the post at Cleveland Wednesday.

JAPANESE SPRINTERS SETS WORLD RECORD

TOKYO, May 30.—(UP)—A new world intercollegiate record of 10.5 seconds for 100 meters was established at a track meet today by Yoshida, a science and literature student at the University of Tokyo.

AIR TRAVEL TABOO

Members of Connie Mack's world champion Philadelphia Athletics are prohibited from traveling in airplanes. Which may be the reason why Grove and Barnshaw seldom "go up in the air."

BEFORE FRIENDSHIP CEASED

Max Schmeling, right, champion of this world's heavyweight boxers, and William L. (Young) Stribling, left, the Georgia challenger, won't be strangers when they enter the ring in Cleveland's new stadium the night of July 3. They met and shook hands at a dinner held in Cleveland for the fighters and the fight executives, put on by the Madison Square Garden corporation of Ohio, backers of the championship tussle.

The head of the class continued to move away today from the "also rans" in Prexy George W. Peterkin's National Night league baseball race.

Santa Ana, defending champion, suffered its first reversal of the season at Anaheim last night, but otherwise all first division contenders won.

As expected, the best game of the evening was at Long Beach where Walt Wentz's scrappy Garden Grove Peppers, nosed out "Butch" Farrow's Aces, 2-1 in a hair-raiser. The Peppers made the most of four hits to win, Jake Carr's home run in the eighth making the count 2-all, and Len Natland's single with Peas on second as a result of Knowles' error at first base producing the winning run in the first of the ninth. Californians Draw Horses In Big Race

DUBLIN, May 30.—(UP)—Drawings in the world's richest racing lottery, the Irish Free State Hospitals' sweepstakes on the English Derby next week, began at Mansion house today.

The first counterfoll, drawn at 10:30 a.m., showed that Doctor Doolittle, a pronounced tip, was held by "Beeby," of Peckham, a suburb of London.

The total of the sweepstakes, swollen by unprecedented ticket sales all over the world, officially was announced as nearly $13,945,000.

Other drawings showed the following held lucky tickets: G. Reed, 2048 East 110th street, Los Angeles; Doctor Doolittle, S. M. Enrich, Los Angeles; Goldstream, George D. Wilko, Stockton, Calif.; Poker D'as.

O'DOUL'S FLOP BLOW TO ROBIN PENNANT HOPES

By MAX KASE
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, May 30.—It's a gamble, this baseball business, just a big gamble, sometimes the winning ace turns up in the diamond draw; sometimes the lowly deuce.

Last fall when the Robins announced the acquisition of "Lefty" O'Doul and Fresno Thompson for Pitches Jim Elliott and Clise Dudley, Outfielder Hal Lee and an unnamed amount of cash, the deal was hailed as the making of the Robins from a potential contender to an almost certain flag winner.

But baseball trades don't always work out the way they are expected to. O'Doul and Thompson have been far from sparkling successes in Flatbush pastures. Elliott and Dudley, however, have added strength to Philadelphia mound staff needing reinforcements to back up the punch in the lineup. From a Philadelphia viewpoint, the deal has been a glittering success. It has been a dud to date for the Robins.

$25,000 Sealed Transaction
The cash angle to this transaction has never been fully revealed. It was believed that $25,000 had been given by Brooklyn to the Phils in addition to the three players to close the trade.

From Philadelphia sources it became definitely known today that the amount placed on the line by the Flatbush directors to seal the bargain was $75,000—a staggering sum—but one which the Brooklyn officials gladly handed over in the hopes of bringing a pennant to Ebbeh's field.

And now comes the irony of it all. The Phils, with the lack of support because of a cellar berth were not in a position to buy needed playing material. But with the huge sum obtained from the Robins, they stepped out and purchased "Buzz" Arlett from the Oakland club, for $15,000, having the necessary money to make what was thought a gambling purchase.

Arlett is Sensation
What happened? The mountainous Arlett steps into the outfield to fill the hitting gap left vacant by the passing of O'Doul. All Arlett has accomplished to date is to lead both leagues in homers, lead his circuit in hitting and the number of runs batted in and to hit at a better than .370 pace. He is second in the league batting standards. O'Doul is still gripped by a hitting slump, and is going along at a feeble .210 pace, or somewhere in that vicinity.

ERRINGTON IS INVINCIBLE AS ANAHEIM WINS

Santa Ana's snug lead in the National Night Baseball league was reduced one full game today as the aftermath of its 5-1 defeat by Anaheim's inspired Valencia at Anaheim last night.

Snapping a winning streak that had remained unbroken since the season opened more than a month ago, Anaheim crawled up within two games of the defending champions and once again became a menace to the Stars' ambitions for another double.

The Valencia's victory was due almost exclusively to the gritty pinch-pitching of "Fuzzy" Errington, the willowy young right hander they obtained this spring from Arlington of the American Night league.

Errington showed the Stars how—and when—to pitch.

Ten Hits Yield One Run
The slow-ball specialist put out ten hits, three of them doubles, and yet the Stars were just a little bit lucky to get that one run they did. Errington simply tied the Stars up when they got on bases. He struck out 13, left 8 Santa Anas stranded on the pathways. That just about tells the whole story of Santa Ana's first league defeat of 1931.

Anaheim got its runs by capitalizing on Santa Ana's lucky defense in the fifth inning. The Valencia's played their hand for all it was worth, got enough to win, then settled down and played smart, head-up baseball to protect it.

Orv Schuchardt started the rally with an infield single. Rice bunted and First Baseman Ed Daley and Second Baseman Darwin Scott got their signals crossed and the ball rolled between them for a cheap two-bagger. Errington hit sharply back to Cornelius who slipped as he was about to field the ball and let it get away from him for another questionable infield single. Schuchardt scored on the transaction, of course, and Rice went to third. Lemon fanned for the first out but Neal continued the attack with a Texas leaguer over second that went for two bases and scored Rice and Errington. Moody flied out to Bell, Rice going to third after the catch which Bell made in deep left. Scholder's double to center, the only hard hit ball of the inning except Moody's fly, sent Rice trotting home with the fourth run of the game.

Hits Hard Homer
Anahem got its other homer in the seventh when Moody blasted a terrific drive between Bell and Nelson after two were away. This was a well kissed drive, a home run in anybody's park.

Santa Ana made its solitary run in the third, the first score of the contest. With one out, Cornelius drilled a double off Errington's shoulder. Leavitt Daley beat out an infield single. Cornelius going to third. Hill bounced to Neal who made a smart play by throwing to third and catching Daley for the second out, allowing Cornelius to score. Merrill followed with a hard single. Daley, who would have tallied Daley, Nelson would have singled the bases, but Bell ended the uprising on a foul tip to Scholder at

ORANGE COUNTY SPECIAL SHOW OF AUBURN IS ON GOOD ROADS MADE IN CITY

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—While California is striving toward its $120,000,000 paved highway program with seven-league boots, the counties of the state are not lagging behind.

Last year alone, the 58 counties of California spent a total of $26,453,392.25 for highway construction and maintenance, bridges, etc., according to a statement just compiled by State Controller Ray L. Riley for Governor Rolph.

Orange county, the report showed, expended a total of $1,220,611 on its county roads during the year.

Los Angeles, largest county in the state, led all the counties of California in highway improvements with a total of $5,876,104.

San Francisco spent $5,210,181 for highways, while Alameda county spent $1,234,755.

California counties receive money from the state for highway improvements through two sources," Riley explained.

"One of these is from the license fees charged annually for automobile plates. After the cost of the division of motor vehicles and the California highway patrol are deducted, the fees are apportioned among counties on a basis of automobile registration.

"Counties also receive one cent of the 3-cent tax per gallon on gasoline, which is also apportioned on a basis of registrations."

The larger county highway expenditures for the year were as follows: Monterey, $1,484,410; Orange, $1,220,611; San Bernardino, $953,112; Fresno, $807,585; Kern, $663,245; Sonoma, $663,306; Santa Clara, $649,999; and Marin, $648,124.

BILLY ARNOLD READY FOR BIG MEMORIAL RACE

DETROIT, Mich., May 30.—Billy Arnold, champion automobile racing driver, looks death in the eye every often. But looking death in the eye neither frightens him nor worries him. He's a fatalist.

On the eve of leaving the Chrysler Sales Corporation, for whom he has been a special factory sales representative for many months past, in order to participate in all major races of the 1931 season, Arnold admitted this fatalistic complex to an interviewer here today.

Every time he takes his place in the speedways where super motor cars whine and roar around it speeds up to 145 miles per hour, he realizes that something may happen, as indeed, often it has.

He is fully aware that many of the finest of his bold brethren have gone suddenly and directly from the speedways to the Valhalla of the speed clan.

The daring, 26-year-old champion, summed up his calm attitude in laconic sentences:

"When it's your time to die, you'll die."

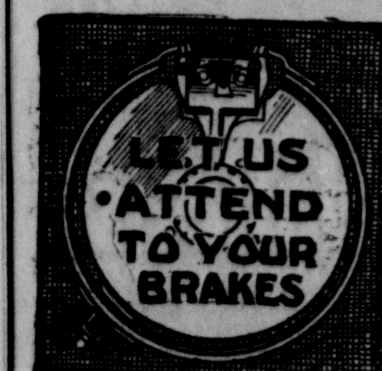

"We don't mind dying, but we don't try to rush it."

"Just sit and wait for your turn. You stay at it long enough and you'll get it."

"What's going to be, will be. No amount of worrying will change the outcome of anything. That's the attitude everybody should have toward life."

COSTLY DISEASE
Plant diseases cost the United States $1,500,000 annually, the U. S. department of agriculture estimates.

NEW DELUXE WILLYS SEDAN

Here is the first Willys Knight deluxe sedan delivered in Southern California. It was sold to Mr. and Mrs. L. Dahlman of the Olive road and has just been delivered. Tewlesley and Boulter Motors handled the transaction. In the picture is seen Mr. and Mrs. Dahlman and E. S. Stover, manager of the local agency.

DAHLMANS BUY 1ST NEW SEDAN SHIPPED HERE

When Mr. and Mrs. L. Dahlman, of the Olive road, think of automobile transportation, they think of Willys-Knight cars only. A Willys-Knight owner for the past 10 years, Dahlman has just purchased a new machine, this time the first deluxe sedan model of its kind to be delivered in Southern California.

The new car has just arrived and been delivered by the Tewlesley and Boulter Motor company of Santa Ana, and the sale was made through E. S. Stover, manager of the local agency.

A thing of beauty from the hood to the exhaust pipe, the new deluxe model is attracting widespread attention wherever it is seen in Orange county.

NASH ENGINES TWIN-IGNITION TAKEN BY U. S.

KENOSHA, Wis., May 30.—(Special)—Twin-ignition, the high efficiency, high economy engineering principle which has distinguished the engines of Nash motor cars for more than two years, is now a government requirement on all of the great public carriers of the air.

In its new set of official regulations, issued January 1 of this year, and now in effect throughout the country, the United States department of commerce makes two spark plugs per cylinder mandatory as a basis of its "air worthiness requirements."

"Dual ignition systems," the department decrees in section 3 of its air commerce regulations for engines and propellers, "with at least two spark plugs per cylinder, are required on all engines with a power rating of 40 horse power or more."

This ruling has the hearty endorsement of Nash engineers who, through years of actual public operation, have watched twin-ignition prove itself as the most desirable of motor car developments. In exhaustive tests they have established that this engineering principle applied to the Nash engine increases its power, speeds up its speed, cuts down its gasoline consumption and consistently advances its efficiency. Both of the Nash straight eight series for 1931 are equipped with twin-ignition motors. In a recent test it was proved that the same motor, actuated by twin-ignition instead of single ignition, developed 22 per cent more horse power, five miles an hour higher speed, and delivered two extra miles of travel from a gallon of gasoline.

"The advantages of double ignition are obvious," a veteran Nash engineer declared today in commenting on the government action. "In the Nash motor the measured charge of gas is first distributed evenly in the combustion chamber, whose machined surfaces leave no pockets to interfere with the process of ignition. The upward stroke of the piston compresses this gas into a space less than 20 per cent of its normal size. Twin aircraft-type spark plugs then send their white-hot flames into the compressed mixture at two opposite points; and the gas, expanding swiftly, evenly and completely, sends its concentrated waves of force to the piston head and thence through the driving units to the rear wheels."

Below about 55 pounds. "At brake pedal pressure above 55 pounds, that is, practically all cases when a driver has to brake hurriedly, the natural rate of drop in engine speed is slower than the rate of car deceleration. Thus, in conventional gearing, the brakes are called upon not only to stop the car, but must stop the engine as well. In free wheeling, on the other hand, the brakes need only stop the car. Actually, at 100 pounds brake pressure, 'engine drag' hinders stopping approximately 10 per cent.

Earl Cooper Is Engineer For Big Race

INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY, May 30.—On the eve of the annual 500-mile international race, Earl P. Cooper, three times American speedway champion, is again at the Indianapolis speed course.

Among the great field of entrants in the international classic scheduled for Memorial Day, Cooper is regarded as a master of the racing profession. He is as popular with the younger drivers, who have gathered from all parts of the country to battle over the famous brick course for gold and glory, as he is among the veterans with whom he has competed for many years.

Race fans are wont to sit on the pit rail and talk of the exploits of Cooper on the Indianapolis track and road race courses; his victories on the board speedways from Atlantic City to Beverly Hills; and of his thrilling dashes on dirt tracks in all parts of the country. Cooper is an idol of the speedway followers and he is still a "champion" among the men who compete in the lists as knights of the open throttle.

But Earl Cooper is not to be among the drivers in the great race Saturday. He is not at the speedway as a driver this year. He is here as an engineer. He is accompanied by another engineer, Col. Elbert J. Hall, co-designer of the famous Liberty Motor and designer of Hall-Scott motors. Col. Hall is now a motor car manufacturer, building the De-Vaux automobile, product of De-Vaux-Hall Motors Corporation.

Col. Hall is to serve as a judge at the Indianapolis race. He and Cooper are at the track daily during the practice hours. Both claim that the speedway is the greatest laboratory of the automotive industry and they are taking advantage of the opportunity to study the various types of cars now assembled at the famous Hoosier brick course.

DIAMOND TIRES AT MCCARTY'S NEWEST PLANT

One of the most beautiful new service stations ever built in Orange county has been officially opened at Santa Ana boulevard and North Main streets by Herbert McCarty, local man. The official opening was held several days ago.

The new plant, even bigger and more beautiful than the first McCarty station, located at Seventeenth and Broadway, makes the corner one of the most attractive in the city.

The new station and equipment represents an outlay of approximately $35,000 and is the latest in model and design, in equipment and service that can be had, it is said.

Diamond Tires, through the Herb Miller Orange county agency, are handled exclusively at the station, McCarty believing that with the giving of the best service possible to the motoring public, Diamond tires must be included, he stated.

5000 DEALERS FOR DODGE CAR IN COUNTRY

With the addition of 122 new dealers to its distributing organization since the first of the year, Dodge Brothers has provided owners with facilities for complete and ready service at approximately 5,000 stations in the United States. According to A. vanDerZee, general sales manager for Dodge, all most one-third of these new dealers are located in the New York region, thus broadening and enlarging the corporation's already extensive representation in New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine and the District of Columbia.

The next greatest addition was in the Detroit region with 27 new dealers signing under the Dodge banner since the first of January. San Francisco was third with 20, the remainder being scattered throughout the regions centered in Chicago, Kansas City, Dallas, Atlanta and St. Louis.

"All have expressed themselves as being particularly pleased with our franchise and with the possibilities that exist in the new Dodge Six and Eight," Mr. vanDerZee said in conclusion, "and I believe that our continued sales increase since the first of January can be attributed in no small measure to the enthusiasm of these new representatives."

GRAHAM WINS CLIMB IN FAR AUSTRALIA

The annual hill-climb of the Royal Automobile Club of Victoria, Australia, held on Mount Martha, a half-mile course with a steep ascent, resulted in a victory for Graham driven by Walter Whitbourn, who made the best time of the day. American, French, Italian and British cars competed.

CLEM STAPLES GOES TO BUICK AGENCY

Clem Staples, well known Santa Ana automobile salesman, is now connected with the Reid Motor company, Southern Orange county distributors for Buick cars, according to an announcement made today by William (Stormy) Gordon, sales manager.

A veteran in the automobile sales game, Staples has been selling cars since 1914. He came here in 1920 and has been connected with the Harry Riley Studebaker organization since that time.

"I have learned to believe that when better cars are built, Buick will build them" and it is with pleasure that I can announce my position with the Reid Motor company," Staples stated.

CHEESE IMPORTS
More than 75,000,000 pounds of cheese are imported into the United States every year.

NON-SHATTER GLASS IN ALL BRITISH CARS

New regulations governing the construction and use of motor vehicles in Great Britain, put in force by the Ministry of Transport, require that beginning January 1, 1932, all new vehicles must have safety glass equipment. Cars now in use are exempt until January 1, 1937.

The new regulations say: "All glass fitted in windshields or windows facing to the front on the outside of any vehicle (except glass on the upper deck of a double deck vehicle) shall be safety glass or glass so constructed it shall not fly into fragments."

In the United States, although there are regulations in some localities requiring its use in taxicabs, buses and other public vehicles, the increase in the use of safety glass has been due to the initiative of car manufacturers.

Of the eighty-nine chassis models of American makes, nineteen are now equipped with safety plate glass throughout, including the two Graham sixes and two Graham eights, which are the four lowest priced cars on the market with use of all-safety glass is more general. In the higher price ranges the use of all-safetyglass is more general.

"YOUNG DONOVAN'S KID" AT FOX BROADWAY "Women Of All Nations" Starts At West Coast

JACK HOLT IN NEW THRILLER AT WEST COAST

An immensely vivid and entertaining picture is "Subway Express." Columbia's screen version of the New York stage success, which opens at the Fox West Coast theater today. Aside from the human interest element contributed by 20 highly realistic and diverse characters who are subway passengers, there's a mystery that fairly takes the edge off anything that even A. Conan Doyle ever concocted.

"Subway Express" has a unique, well-motivated plot and is rich in humor because of the clashes of the eddily contrasted passengers who make up the personnel of the subway coach. These passengers elbow each other and are lurching and jerked realistically by the speeding train. A quarrel develops between a broker and some nebbiches, who bump against him and members of his party. There is a struggle and a shot, after which a murdered man is discovered sitting stiffly in a seat.

With 30 people to choose from, not even Killian—a hard-boiled police inspector—can tell who committed the crime. There's even a catch as to how it was committed—it looks like a shoot-

West Coast Shows Revue Today, Sun.

The Prather and Yantis Revue, a road show will supplant the regular acts of vaudeville to be shown at the Fox West Coast theater Saturday and Sunday, it was announced today.

High class singing, dancing and musical numbers, together with fast comedy made up the show which will be shown at the theater in addition to the regular feature picture, "Subway Express."

There are 10 persons in the show, four men and six women, all of whom do specialties.

DIRECTOR PLAYS PART

Paul Hurst, for 10 years a motion picture director, and now a favorite in dramatic characters, has an important part in Clara Bow's new starring picture for Paramount, "Kick In."

Jack Holt plays the inspector with convincing realism. Aileen Pringle enlists sympathy as Dale Tracy and Jason Robards makes the broker, Borden, a likeable young New Yorker. Fred Kelsey, William Humphrey, and Ethel Wales score in character roles.

VIC MCLAGLEN, EDMUND LOWE IN NEW COMEDY

"Women of All Nations," the new Raoul Walsh Fox picture which was previewed here at the Fox Broadway theater one Monday night, not so long ago, returns as a regular engagement at the Fox West Coast theater starting Monday.

But it is an entirely different show from the "Women of All Nations" which was previewed. The Fox people did not like the way Santa Ana audiences took to their preview. It was not exactly what they wanted in the way of appreciation for their work, so they took it back to the studio and made it all over again, according to reports that have reached here.

The story starts two leathernocks, Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, off on their adventures in Nicaragua, takes them through the Panama canal to the Brooklyn navy yard, and from there on a good-will cruise around the world with ports of call at Gothenburg, Sweden, and Turkey.

Throughout the picture Walsh gave his orders to players and staff in the native language of the country visited. In Nicaragua, his fluent Spanish came into good use; in Brooklyn he was right at home with the particular patois of the territory adjacent to the navy yard; in Sweden he was coached in several phrases by some of the Swedish beauties appearing in the scene and when it came to Turkey Victor McLaglen officiated as coach, and the amiable Vic speaks a mean Turkish.

Ordinarily it would be expected that Walsh would have looked to Greta Nissen and El Brendel, the two featured players, for help in the Swedish tongue, but the beautiful blonde actress is not Swedish, but Norwegian by birth. And as for El Brendel, he also is not a Swede, but a Philadelphian, and switched to Swedish characterizations only when the World War put an end to his German comedian act.

Greta Nissen enacts the leading feminine role, that of a young and alluring Swedish girl who causes the hearts of "Flagg" and "Quirt" to flutter and their fists to fly. Brendel carries on in his role which gained him screen prominence, "Olson," the Swede Marine.

Famous for her impersonation of the nun in "The Miracle" and her work with Max Reinhardt in Germany, Rosamund Pinchot, renowned beauty and member of the well-known Pinchot family, has stepped into the public eye again with a short appearance before the cameras at the Paramount New York studio.

She played a small role in the department store scene of "Tarnished Lady," in which her friend, Talulah Bankhead, is being starred.

Paramount has centered its youthful film talent in the cast of "Confessions of a Co-Ed," with the assignment of Frances Dee, Norman Foster, Jean Arthur and Claire Dodd to appear with the co-featured pair, Phillips Holmes and Sylvia Sydney.

This sextet will be seen in the filmization of the diary from the pen of a co-ed who, for obvious reasons, insists that her identity be kept secret.

IN POWERFUL NEW PLAY Richard Dix, who comes to the Fox Broadway theater tomorrow in his new picture, "Young Donovan's Kid," one of the most powerful pictures he has ever made. Jackie Cooper plays the part of the boy in the story.

S. HAYAKAWA SEEN IN FILM AFTER 12 YRS. WALKER STATE SHOWS "ROYAL FAMILY B'WAY"

After a 12-year absence from the screen, Sessue Hayakawa, star of "The Cheat" is coming back to Hollywood to appear with Anna May Wong and Warner Oland in the pictureization of Sax Rohmer's "Daughter of the Dragon."

Hayakawa, who is in Kyoto, Japan, accepted the role in a cablegram received by E. P. Schulberg, managing director of west coast production for the Paramount Public Corporation.

Hayakawa, who has been touring the world in his own dramatic and vaudeville productions since his retirement from pictures, will arrive in San Francisco on June 2, the cablegram stated.

Joins Former Company
In returning to the Paramount studios for the resumption of his interrupted screen career, Hayakawa again joins hands with the organization which made him the leading Oriental actor of his day. He was one of the stars whose successes are being recalled in Paramount's current celebration of its 20th anniversary.

During his years with the film company the Japanese star shared honors with Mary Pickford, Wallace Reid, Mae Murray, Fannie Ward, Marie Dore, Blanche Sweet, Geraldine Farrar, George Beban, Thomas Meighan and Vivian Martin in such hits as "The City of Dim Faces," "Hidden Pearl," "The Call of the East," "The Jaguar's Claws," "The Soul of Kura San," "For the Honor of His House," "The Secret Game," "Allen Souls," "Each to His Own Kind," "The Bottle Imp" and "The Cheat."

Miss Wong in Return
At the same time, Anna May Wong, who will be featured with Hayakawa in "Daughter of the Dragon," was starring in her own oriental productions. She now is appearing on the New York stage in "On the Spot," and is due in Hollywood early next month.

RICHARD DIX IN REMARKABLE NEW PICTURE

A New York East Side Robin Hood, who killed as lightly as he kissed.

A parish priest who packed a Bible in his left hand and a wallop in his right.

A beautiful young girl of gentle breeding in love with a notorious gun man.

A seven-year-old boy steeped in the wickedness of adult gang life.

A narcotic fiend with a mad desire to teach others to use his pernicious drug.

These are only a few of the amazing characters with which Rex Beach's classic novel, "Big Brother" is peopled, the Radio Pictures version of which titled "Young Donovan's Kid," is coming to the Fox Broadway.

Interpreting the role of the gang leader is Richard Dix, whose brilliant performance in Radio Pictures epic of western empire building, "Cimarron," places him among the greatest stars of all screen history. He again covers himself with screen glory, in a part radically different from that of Yancey Cravat.

Jackie Cooper, seven-year-old boy who leaped to stardom over night in the title role of "Skippy," plays the incorrigible Midge Murray. His performance is said to be one of the most outstanding ever contributed to the screen by a child actor.

Playing the priest is Frank Sheridan, grand old Irish trouper of 50 years' dramatic experience.

Marion Shilling, beautiful daughter of the noted stage director-producer, Edward Shilling, with a half dozen leading screen roles to her credit, plays opposite Dix. Cast as "Coke Joe" is the sterling, vigorous actor, Boris Karloff. Fred Kelsey is the laughable, "square-toe," Collins. Bob Wilber, Congressional Medal of Honor man, plays the murderous Monk Manilla. Fred Niblo, distinguished director of "Ben Hur," and scores of recent talking pictures, directed "Young Donovan's Kid" with a keen instinct for the original Rex Beach story values.
